A Divine Cordial We know that all things work together for good, to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. Romans viii. A Divine Cordial. by Thomas Watson, "And we know that all things work together for good to those who love God, to those who are the called according to His purpose." Romans Introduction. Christian Reader, There are two things, which I have always looked upon as difficult. Answer. I grant that, through the suspension of divine grace, and the fury of a temptation a saint may be overcome; yet this foiling by a temptation shall be overruled for good. By this foil, God makes way for the augmentation of grace. Peter was tempted to self-confidence; he presumed upon his own strength; and Christ let him fall.
